9.1 What You Need To Do

You acknowledge and accept that we cannot verify by way of signature comparison or other means whether a person accessing BML Internet Banking, BML Mobile Banking and BML MobilePay, quoting correct Card details and Access Codes of an authorised User is actually that authorised User himself/herself.

Your Card details and other Access Codes allow anybody using them to conduct the type of operations on an Account for which the Card details and Access Codes provide access to, and we are authorised by you to permit such access.

You may change the BML Internet Banking and BML Mobile Banking Password periodically.

You must ensure that Access Codes are kept secure and not disclosed to anyone. If you have authorised a Nominee to use BML Internet Banking or BML Mobile Banking, You must ensure that the Nominee(s) does not disclose his/her Access Codes to anyone.

You must ensure that all steps are taken for the protection of Card details, Access Codes and Security Tokens by yourself as well as by all Nominees authorised to access your Account, as specified in Clause 9.2 and 19.

9.2 Protecting Access Codes and Security Tokens

If you make a record of your Access Codes, you must keep it separate and well away from your computer or mobile device unless the Access Codes are reasonably disguised. However, to minimise the risk of unauthorised transactions occurring on your Account, it is best to keep your Access Codes, even if disguised, separate and well apart from your computer or mobile device. For example, you must not keep your computer and undisguised Access Codes together:

- In your office or at home in the same room
- On your mobile devices
- In any other situation where your computer or mobile device and Access Codes can be found and used

To protect your Access Codes you must:

- Try to memorize them
- Destroy any documentation we issue to you containing Access Codes
- Not write your Access Codes on your computer and mobile device, even if disguised
- Not keep a record of your Access Codes with or near your computer and mobile device
- Not tell anyone your Access Codes, including family members, friends and our staff
- Not select a number or word that can easily be associated with you when changing your Access Codes, such as your date of birth, telephone number, driver's license number and so forth
- Make sure that nobody watches you or hears you when you are entering or using your Access Codes at electronic equipment.

- For security reasons you should endeavor to change your Access Codes at frequent interval(s).

If you make a record of your Access Codes you must either take reasonable steps to prevent unauthorised access to the record or ensure the record is reasonably disguised. We do not consider that you have made a reasonable attempt to disguise Access Codes if you only:

- Record it in reverse order
- Record it as a series of numbers with any of them marked to indicate the Access Codes
- Record the Access Codes as a telephone number with the Access Codes in its correct sequence within the telephone number
- Record the Access Codes as a telephone number where no other telephone numbers are recorded
- Disguise the Access Codes as a date or as an amount

There may be other forms of disguise which may be similarly unsuitable because of the ease of another person working out your Access Codes.

To protect your Security Tokens you must:

- Keep them secure and in a location where unauthorised people cannot access them
- Not write your Login ID, Password or Passcode on the Security Token
- Not keep a record of your Login ID, Password or Passcode near the Security Token
